FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mygrant Glass now offers parts availability and ordering from GLAXIS connected retail shops.

HAYWARD, May 12, 2009 – For Mygrant Glass Company customers, checking parts availability and order status directly from GLAXIS enabled software means reduced down time, improved order fulfillment and cost savings.

Dan Parkinson, IT Director of Mygrant Glass Company, said, “In today’s challenging economy, we need to maximize our efficiency and business process whenever possible. Our partnership with GLAXIS is more than a value added – it allows our customers to have instant access to the information they need to streamline operations and get orders filled faster and more efficiently.”

John Morris, President, Jack Morris Auto Glass was the first to use the solution. “We’re relentless about happy customers. While we’re on the phone selling we check part availability, pricing and order right through our GTS software without disrupting the customer. That time is valuable to us and our customers”.

“We’re pleased to add Mygrant Glass to the exceptional team of glass suppliers that partner with GLAXIS,” said Betsy Evanoff, business manager, GLAXIS. “When Mygrant Glass customers have quick access to order status or parts availability they are able to accelerate their business process and ultimately enjoy cost savings and improved profitability.”

GLAXIS provides an electronic hub that enables direct, secure communication with preferred business partners. GLAXIS technology connects, automates and maximizes the auto glass value chain.

Ordering is currently available thru the following commercial software packages: GTS, Mainstreet, GlassMate, and Quest Software.
