Data Tranz Introduces Credit Card Processing

Valley City, North Dakota (February 26, 2008) Data Tranz, through an alliance with X-Charge, has introduced a feature to GlassShop software that allows companies to process credit card transactions via the Internet.

This embedded feature allows users to process cards right from their point-of-sale screen using an attached swipe and pin pad device. The processing software replaces dedicated payment processing terminals (e.g. credit card machines) and supports all major credit cards, debit cards, and gift card processing types. Approvals are swift, allowing for faster check-out times.

“We are receiving very positive feedback from our clients. They are getting competitive rates from X-Charge, their processing time is reduced since there is no re-keying, and they don’t have to use up a phone line because the transaction is encrypted via the Internet,” said Herb Ludwig, Pr
