IN AUTO GLASS REPLACEMENT
Auto One - Flint Southeast Passes Third Party AGRSS Audit

Brighton, MI – April 28, 2010 – On April 13, 2010, Auto One – Flint Southeast was found to be in compliance with the ANSI/AGRSS Standard in all respects by passing a third party, independent audit of its auto glass installation procedures. Auto One – Flint SE was picked at random for the audit which was conducted by an independent, third party.

“Congratulations to Ron Hawley, the glass technician, and the rest of the staff of Auto One – Flint SE for following the industry best practices for safe automotive glass installations found in the ANSI/AGRSS Standard®,” said Ron Overbeck, corporate operations manager, Auto One Glass and Accessories.

The AGRSS Standard (AGRSS® /ANSI 002-2002 Automotive Glass Replacement Safety Standard) is the first and only North American standard detailing the steps and procedures installers should take to provide safer automotive glass replacement. The AGRSS Standard explains what steps should be followed for safer replacements and also sets up procedures for handling difficult problem installations. The ANSI/AGRSS validation process is a voluntary procedure.

“Auto glass is an important component in the safety structure of your vehicle. At Auto One, we strive to be a leader in our community by taking a stand for consumer safety and adhering to the ANSI/AGRSS standard.” Dave Zoldowski, president Auto One Glass & Accessories. “Our local insurance agencies and customers should expect no less from their glass shops.”
