Press Release

Gold Glass Group Launches New Web Site

Bohemia, NY, Thursday, July 30, 2007

Gold Glass Group is proud to announce the launch of the company's completely redesigned web site, www.gggcorp.com. Together with the huge recent growth of our product range we felt a more comprehensive site was needed, states Joseph Gold, President of Gold Glass Group. We have outlined our vast new line of part specific mouldings. Also, customers can learn about our universal mouldings, tapes, tools and foam core butyl. Whether you want to find out more information about GGG or take advantage of the great downloads a visit to the web site is well worth it.

"We are very excited about our two new search engines," states Martin Bobinger, General Manager of Gold Glass Group. Our customers can search for information about our parts using GGG and/or NAGS part numbers. This way they can quickly and easily obtain current list prices as well as determine the correct moulding for a given windshield. The search engines also list applicable rain and light sensors, adhesive pads and application tools.

Finally, in the Industrial Products Section, we outline the extensive range of mouldings, sensors and related products that are currently being used by our industrial customers at the manufacturing level.
