joyce.kasmer@i-car.comI-CAR® ANNOUNCES NEW ROLE FOR TOM MCGEE

HOFFMAN ESTATES, IL – November 19, 2007 – Tom McGee has announced his decision to step down from his role as the President & CEO of I-CAR, the Inter-industry Conference on Auto Collision Repair, for personal reasons.

At the request of the Executive Committee of the I-CAR Board of Directors, Tom has agreed to remain with I-CAR, where he will serve as the Director of Industry Relations and Product Operations.

“I have been very fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve the I-CAR organization in many different capacities, most recently as President & CEO. While my personal situation has necessitated the need to step down from my current role, I am very pleased to have been provided by the I-CAR Executive Committee with the opportunity to remain with the organization in a capacity that I believe will allow me to continue to contribute to the organization and its future within the collision industry,” stated Tom McGee.

“The I-CAR Board of Directors wants to acknowledge Tom’s many contributions to I-CAR and to the inter-industry during his tenure as CEO,” notes I-CAR Board Chairman John Edelen. “The organization and the industry have been fortunate to have Tom’s talent and energy to call upon during some very challenging years. We are confident that Tom will continue to contribute to the success of I-CAR in this new role, for which he is uniquely suited.”
