NWRA REPAIR CERTIFICATION TO BE OFFERED AT ANNUAL CONFERENCE
Program will be available for no extra cost

Qualified attendees of the 2008 National Windshield Repair Association (NWRA) Annual Conference will be able to attempt to become NWRA Certified repair technicians for no additional cost. The event will be held November 6-7 at the Mandalay Bay Convention Center in Las Vegas and is co-located with the International Autobody Congress and Exposition (NACE). The conference will contain two days of educational events, repair competitions and a reception at Mandalay Bay Convention Center.

The NWRA Repair of Laminated Glass Certification Program is designed to certify laminated glass repair technicians within the margins of the ANSI-approved Repair of Laminated Glass Standard (ROLAGS). Certified technicians must have six months experience repairing laminated glass, pass a written exam based in part on ROLAGS and perform a practical demonstration of a correct repair.

NWRA certification committee member Wade Schlichenmayer of Delta Kits will present an hour-long training session on Friday, November 7. The session will refresh attendees' knowledge of ROLAGS and proper laminated glass repair technique. Immediately following the seminar attendees will be allowed to take a written form of the NWRA's on-line certification exam free of charge – a $95 value.

NWRA Practical Assessment Administrators exhibiting at the NACE trade show will be equipped to observe the practical portion of the certification program on the show floor.

Also included in the conference's registration fee is NWRA repair certification and training, admission to the NACE Expo; the Auto Glass Technician Olympics; and the Walt Gorman Memorial Windshield Repair Olympics.
