NOVUS In Line With ROLAGS Standard

With the approval of the Repair of Laminated Automotive Glass Standard (ROLAGS) by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), NOVUS® Glass is proud to announce that all NOVUS Resins conform to the national standard brought forth by the National Windshield Repair Association (NWRA) and the National Glass Association (NGA) an ANSI accredited standards writing body. Novus is also proud to announce that its windshield repair training programs offered to NOVUS franchisees are designed to meet the requirements of the standard as part of their intensive six day repair and business training course.

35 years after NOVUS invented windshield repair, they remain the industry's research & development leader and have been awarded more U.S. Patents for windshield repair than the remainder of the windshield repair industry combined.

"Throughout its existence, NOVUS has continually strived to bring credibility to windshield repair even when it was not a popular concept to embrace" says Keith Beveridge, Sr. Vice President of NOVUS. "We are very happy to see that attitudes have changed and this standard is a very important step in that direction."
